

WMCC HISTORIAN!

Do you have boxes and boxes of minutes, programs, photos, and items of value and importance sitting at church or in someone's basement? Don't know what to do about it all or have anyone willing to go through it?

As Historian for the WMCC my job is to archive historical documents from our conference. It's amazing to see the legacy and blessings the work of women can do.

With the assistance of Rev. Susan Knight and Anna Kajsa Anderson, Director of Archives, Brandel Library North Park University they will help in storing and making accessible the Central Conference Women's important history, dating back to 1819.

Our plan is to work with local churches on how to keep and archive historical materials. Also, we have plans to contact the churches concerning their willingness to keep and archive their historical information. If they desire to keep the materials, there are guidelines that can be sent to the churches on how to store and take care of historical information. Guidelines are also available in hard copy at Covenant Resources.

You do need to know what you send will become part of our Women Ministries permanent collection. As not everything is historically relevant, we will also weed out what isn't necessary and put in the recycle bin. Any photos? Please identify people, dates, events and places if you can.

Even though I am a long-time Covenanter, I will probably not know names. Please let me know if there are any women in your material who were truly inspirational or instrumental in the life of your church.

Please contact Joyce Boggess, Historian- via phone at 608-219-3673 or email at salter7859@sbcglobo.net. If you have any questions, or – better still – have something for me, please call!
